WHICH ASPECTS ARE NOT CONTEMPLATED IN THE PROPOSED OBJECTIVES?
Para garantizar el cumplimiento de nuestros derechos, los ODS deberían incluir:

- "From poor kids to powerful men invades us! Children.
  "Which are needed is a global partnership, in which everyone by speaking and doing is needed for fighting."
  Thurgood, 5 years old, Thurgood.
- Children have not been heard, nor taken into account!
- Children and adolescents need spaces where our proposals on issues that affect us can be presented. We need to move from consultation to action. We need mechanisms for enforcement of the SDGs, we want to be heard and informed on progress. We need many more children involved and becoming part of the enforcement and monitoring system, so we ask for simple and effective procedures.
- No discrimination must be included, as should the right to have a family to look after us and protect us.
- The state should not reduce budgets, especially those associated with our rights and welfare.

The Latin America and Caribbean Movement for Children (MAM-LAC) is a strategic alliance of leading organizations and networks in the region working to promote, protect and defend the rights of children and adolescents. This alliance includes the YMCA, SOS Children’s Villages International, Child Fund Alliance, Child Helpline, Defense for Children International (DCI), ICAM, Inter-American Children’s Institute (INI), the OAS, Plan International, Latin America and Caribbean Network for the defence of the Right of the Child and Adolescent (REDLAHOK), and International, Save the Children, UNICEF and World Vision International, in addition to the International Centre for Missing and Exploited Children (ICMEC), the Foundation World Solidarity International (FWSI) and the Viva Network as observers.

In October 2014, with the support of the Global Movement for Children in Latin America and the Caribbean, Latin American children and adolescents expressed their priorities for the Post 2015 Sustainable Development Goals Agenda in a participatory process of reflection and discussion about those goals.

A child friendly version was developed to help children and adolescents understand the 17 sustainable Development Goals proposed by the UN Open Working Group.

Children and adolescents were then consulted on what they feel is important to them and to their rights that were yet not considered, or not considered properly, and what else should be included to ensure the rights of children and adolescents.

Through this exercise, they prioritized the 5 most important objectives and proposed which other aspects should be taken into account.

This compilation is an effort to gather the priorities and recommendations of children and adolescents in Latin America.

More than 1,000 children and adolescents were heard in 10 countries in the region.

"Children and adolescents present a new and unique form of reality, because perhaps they have the less to lose and the more to gain." - Paul Voltaire, French writer, 17(15-18)
IN FIRST PLACE: OBJECTIVE 1 - END POVERTY

TO BUILD THE WORLD WE WANT, CHILDREN AND ADOLESCENTS HAVE PRIORITIZED AND PROPOSED:

- "We need education because there are many people suffering in the streets. We need to learn. We need to change. We need to live just like other children."
- "If education and social justice can be achieved, then we will have a world where all children have the right to education and social justice."

As the fifth most important objective for children prioritized is Objective 16 - To live in Peace.

People should be more respectful towards one another. We need to end violence towards adolescents and help them to live a peaceful life.

Children need to live in a peaceful environment to be happy. It's not a matter of interest only for the government, to live in peace is a communal goal for everyone.

Our opinion should be considered in the discussion of laws that affect us. We want to feel heard and valued.

We emphasize the need for all forms of violence in our homes. Especially violence against children should be stopped. All political parties and programs equipped with experienced professionals.

We agree with the aim of achieving peace for all. It is important for States to focus on ending social inequality so we can live in peace.

Crime and corruption must be combated, but so should the abuse of the police force, especially among the children and adolescents.

We need more monitoring in justice for adolescents. We need to fight corruption and the lack of justice in our society.

Protect especially children living in armed conflicts, children who migrate and who are exposed to violence and exploitation.

Provide tools to children and adolescents to detect violence and communicate it, ensuring that States and communities provide more funding to solutions that protect children. We need to promote values such as respect, tolerance and solidarity.

The five objectives prioritized by the children and adolescents are focused on three of the essential elements for the achievement of the development goals proposed by the Secretary General of the United Nations: DIGNITY, PEOPLE AND JUSTICE.
